

Chad Catterwell

Chad Catterwell is a partner in the international arbitration practice at Herbert Smith Freehills. He specialises in cross-border disputes and international arbitrations occurring across the Asia-Pacific region. He has particular expertise managing disputes arising from M&A activity and joint ventures in Asia and a strong interest in the energy and resources, manufacturing and supply chain, and technology sectors. Now based in Melbourne, he has previously worked in Hong Kong and his current practice sees him working on matters across Asia collaborating seamlessly with colleagues in the region and elsewhere.