

ACICA 45 WORKSHOP

Enforcement in International Arbitration

PART OF:

With the fundamental importance of a binding and enforceable arbitration agreement and the enforceability of awards being one of international arbitration's most attractive features, it is essential for arbitration practitioners to have skills in both these areas. Join ACICA45 for this workshop on enforcement at both the beginning and final stages of an arbitration, with practical tips and guidance from practitioners who've been on the enforcement frontline, including on:

- the framework established by international arbitration conventions;
- drafting an enforceable arbitration agreement (and avoiding pathological clauses);
- arbitrability of disputes;
- court proceedings to enforce an agreement to arbitrate;
- steps for recognition and enforcement of an award;
- grounds for resisting enforcement of an award; and
- conducting enforcement proceedings in Australian courts.
